Astragalus is an intriguing one. Traditionally used in Chinese Medicine, it has gained traction in the Western world in recent years due to some incredibly comprehensive studies showing its potency for treating kidney disorders. In addition to promoting kidney health, it seems to show promise in shielding the body and defending it against various illnesses and ailments, possibly by boosting the immune system. It's a fantastic formula for promoting overall wellness in numerous capacities and a great addition to the AD LIFE range.

Protecting key organs such as the kidneys is of paramount importance to athletes. One of the organs major functions is to filter waste products and toxins out of the body to maintain optimal health.

Protecting, and nurturing this mechanism, therefore, is essential. Once the kidneys performance lags, so does the rest of the human body, and the accumulation of waste products can have serious consequences for our health.

Astragalus is an herb that shows immense kidney-promoting properties for maintaining optimal health of this vital organ.

In addition to this, Astragalus supports healthy immune function as well as overall well-being. It nourishes our natural defense systems and plays an integral role in maintaining the body's salt, potassium, and acid levels.
